Under the imperative caption that we have placed at the head of this article, the purlotism that preserved the Union; in New York World of the 19th, insists that the South, thirty-two years after the first New York Horte of the Lorin, masses and the flag be raised again, and it does not shot was fired, his named is heaped with mince matters in deprecating the action of contumely, and yet we are asked to bemince matters in deprecasing the action of contumely, and yet we are asked to beleve that a new and loyal South has taken fession of the strength of public sentimentagainst the pulling down of our flag, is significant in its appearance in so prominent a Democratic paper as the World, which says under the beading of "Raise that Flag!"

There can be no doubt that the lowering of the American flag has produced a very untavorable impression even among those who, like the World, were resolutely opposed to the scheme for taking into the sisterhood of States, either, foreibly or otherwise, this far-away habitation of mongrel Japa, Chinese and Kanakas. No one who has fought for that flag or who would now fight for it, likes to see it lowered, even at the Johnst of a blant aided formanssioner intrusted, it stoudd appear, with in the operat discretioning power.

But discretish of annegation is entirely consistent with a desire and determination that the United States shall control this important station for our great and growing Pacific traffic. It is consistent with the feeling that Americans who have controlled the situation there for a generation trolled the situation there for a generation under the monarchy, building up a large commercial interest, shall be sustained by the frieudship and the power of their naive land in every proper way.
The Provisional Government is de facto

The Provisional Government is de factor by government of Hawaii. It has sustained itself for some time without the aid of the United States marines. But it deseres a closer union with this country. It proffers annexation. It would probably not refuse a territorial form of government, or perhaps a strong and exclusive protectorate.

Pending some treaty arrangement with our country, which is bound to be made it the Provisional Government wants the projection of our flag, let it he'st the Stars protection of our flag, let it he st the Stars and Stripes!

Who would dare object?

Surely our own Government would not wish to do so. It can have no sympathy with the purpose to instars a monacchy in Horon. It must and no doubt will resist any attempt of a European or Eastern power to secure a paramount influence in these islands. Nothing could tend more effectually to prevent this than the floating of the flag of the great Republic over the Hawaiian Capitol by the free act of its provisional rulers.

Why should not President Bould over the Money deposited in the Castern Trust & Banking Co. Provisional rules.

Why should not President Doll, order a dag-raising. Up with the Stars and Stripes.

This area.

This editorial concedes the whole case, for the flag as it was raised by Minister Stevens at the request of the Provisional Covernment, meant exactly what the World declares desirable, namely, an anmouncement to all comers that the Provisional Government of Hawaii had in-voked the aid of the United States in the preservation of order and protection of property, pending the determination and stablishment of a permanent condition. Of course President Dole has no authority to order the American Hing hoisted, as that emblem can be authoritatively dis-played only by orders of those who represent the United States Government, but the gist of the World's desire is that the exact status that existed before Blount's appearance should be restored.

The New York Sen represents another phase of New York Democracy, and it 4 to 6 PER CENT. PER YEAR. early rebelled against the tempering with the flag. In the following editorial paraanti-American policy toward Hawaii, and questioned the legality of Blount's mission BLAKE, BARROWS & BROWN,

Our esteemed contemporary, the Ch cago Herdd, favor the public with the following interesting altegations:

"The Commissioner sent by Mr. Cleve-1400 to Honolulu with special and complete powers to act in the crisis that had been created, has purged the American flag of the stain put on it by Minister Steekes."

What does the Herall know about the "special and complete powers to act" said to be intrasted by President CLEVELARD to Commissioner BLOURY?
What does anybody know about the character of these alleged special and complete powers to act, or about the special chanse of the United States Constitut on upon which they are based?

So, in view of the fact

So, in view of the fact, that within a reck after our editorial was written, neary every prominent paper in the loyal secions of the country, including some of the foremost journals of the President's own party, have united in condemning the course of the ex-Confederate Commissioner at Honolulu. it is evident that THE Willo was not talking at random when on the first publication of the news it so promptly and positively declared: "We mistake the temper of the American people if they do not indignantly condemn the manifestly partisan and unparticule attempt to discredit our Minister and Navy at Hawaii for doing what would have you for them honors and promotion at the hands of any of the great governments of Europe."

In the published reports it appears that the Confederate flag, which was and must always remain the emblem of treason and nothing more, furnished the chief decoration of the Opera House, being placed in conspicuous positions all over the building, while but one United States flag was allowed in the house and that "at the extreme rear of the stage" where it was "flanked" by the rebel banner. The oratory compared favorably with the decorations: Gen Sherman was referred to as of "infamous memory" and charged with barefaced fulsehood," while his gallant Beauregard in the assault upon the life of the Nation was paraded as a sacred relic.

The gunboat Machine was given her first trial at sea Thursday and made a fine first trial at sea Thursday and made a fine showing.

Not only did she heat the speed requirements of her contract by 1% knots, but she showed great ateaming powers, and, with the throttle wide open, kept manifesting a disposition to blow off.

The course where she was tested lies between Seguin and Femaquid, the run to Boothbay Harbor giving a triangular track over distances exactly determined by the United States coast survey.

The first run was made directly against a strong easterly breeze, but there was lifting sea on, and the five knots were covered in 11% muntes.

Then, with the wind abeam, the Machias ran into Boothbay harbor and rounded Monae island, aftern four-knot spin in 15% minutes.

Great Show and Lay the Foundation For a More Thorough Inspection of Ita Marvols—An Evening Visit.

Can one see the World's fair in one day? Well, he can see a great deal of it, much more than one would think. Intuit, a yery good general view can be taken in a day, including the evening, though of each of which would occupy many days. Here as the itinerary for one day?

First, it is to be a bright and pleasanity warm May day, and so the first visit should by full means be made by hwater. We will start at the Van Buren street dock. The World's Fair Steamship company, which owns the dock in his four big boats ranning between Yan Buren street and the World's fair grounds—vescels amply able to earry 15,000 passengers every hour, and if a crush comes the company operates enough smaller chaft to double this capacity, not to mention the number of people the independent lines will curry.

We are taking the best possible method of see ug the buildings of the "White City." Not only can the very best view of the fair it is entirety be had from the water—that is, from out here on the lake—but every one of the most important buildings is to be seen to best advantage either from the lake or from the eanals and ponds inside the grounds. From the water, too, every one of the larger and more important build-

Ingests immediately accessible. The whole fuir was built with these ends in view, and the plans have been magnificently carried out. That's why we are going by water to get our first view of the exposition.

Many will deburk at the North pier, but let us go down to the further pier and begin at Alphs—that is, the great peristyle representing Alphs. Pleasure boats and yachta can land as well us stemmers. On the south side of the pier as we land you can see the government's model battleshin. the south side of the pier as we land you can see the government's model battleship. Once ashore, we'll take a round on the moval le sidewalk. It's nearly half a mile long, and we can get, a magnificent view of the far buildings and Laka Michigan as well from it. Now, if only, this plan could be worked in cities, what a lot of shoe leather we might save!

Out there is the anchorage for big vessels. Gloser in the pleasure yachts and smaller craft will auchor—that is, they will Jackle

We must take a walk about that island before we are through—now through this inlet at the right, leading out to the lake. Hereon our left is the Fisheries tuild, lake. Here on our left is the Fisheries I uild, and I, with its two annexes spreading out on each side of it like a pair of wings, occupies nearly 100,000 feet of ground space. Beyond this, on the left, right, and tefore us, are the fire and guard station, the life saving station, the clambake, the lighthouse exhibit, weather burean station, and, so on. On the left are some of the foreign tribling a monarchy that there is a constant.

so on. On the left are some of the foreign buildings, among them those of Great Britain, Russis, France, Germany and Sweden. Now we will turn round and patidle up into North peed. We repass the Fisheries building and find ourselves in the lagoon again, and out of this into the inlet leading to the pond. Skirting along the shore, we pass the buildings of some of the South American republics and find ourselves before the great Art galleries. West of the pond are a number of state buildings, those of Obio, Indiana, and Wiscousin in the foreground. Ample provision has been made for the fine arts exhibit, nearly six acres being devoted to the gallery and annexes.

Here we are before the Illinois building, the largest state building of them all. It is a splendid structure, with a ground area of over three acres and a height of 234 feet. After a good look at Illinois' great building we find our way back into the lagoon, lugging the north and west shores. To the west, Fouting the lagoon, is the Women's building an off a twick of the shores.

Our gondolier (he's genuine—a real Italian) must keep close into shore while we take a good look at the luildings as we pass them. Here we turn juto the South cunal and view the west end of the Agricultural building. You wil see the annex presently. The Agricultural building is 800 feet long and 500 feet in width, and the annex is 300 by 550 feet—a n atter of 13 acres covered by these two buildings.

These are the electric fountains at the lower lend of South canal. They are among the grist attractions at night. Over there, past the colounade, is the stock payllion, and beyond that are the exhibit yards.

Here on the west side of the canal is Machinery hall, next to the Mannfactures building the largest structure on the grounds. It runs with its annex nearly 1,400 feet east and west. We will get a good look at it in a few moments, when we make a halt in the west end of the basin.

much about. But night is the time to see city front and the "White City" at the fair grounds in all their beauty. As we glide along the city front we note in turn the Auditorium, the great clock tower, the immense and wil-liantly lighted hotels and then the grounds. There are thousands of electric lights in and around the buildings and about the grounds. Every light has been placed so it will shed its light to the best advantage despite the prodigality of distribution. Hear the bands. I haven's an idea—hundreds of 'em anyway.

All right. We'll go in and paddle round awhile in a gondola, hear the banca play and so on. Then we'll come out into the lake in a launch and study this scene again. You could look at it for hours! It is intended to make this a memorial congress, setting forth the intellectual, moral and material progress of the women of the world from the discovery of America in 1893 down to the present time. This congress will gather to itself women from all quarters of the globe—those most noted for their leadership in the educational world; the bright lights in the field of literature, art and industry; the noted philanthropists and those who have to do with moral and social reform, religion, sciences, philosophy, civil law and government. Many noted foreigners have accepted the invitation to be present, and a programme has been arranged that will show the progress of woman along all the lines indicated.

Charities and Correction.

Charities and correction is one of the departments of the fair to which thinking men will instinctively turn. There will not be much in it to attract the popular ere, but it will be a mine of information for the guardians of the poor and the governors of the criminal classes in this and other countries. The students of the social problems of the day will find collected and easy of access facts and figures invaluable to him, which he might otherwise have labored for years to discover. The department will occupy a space of 15,690 square feet in the southwest corner of the Ethnological building. Charities and Correction, gresses for the discussion of subjects of a more limited interest will be held in the smaller rooms. It will thus be possible to have two general congresses and 20 special congresses or conferences in session at the same time and to have three times as many meetings within a single day by arranging different programmes for morning, afternoon and evening sessions, but it is not anticipated that so many daily meetings will be required in any department of the world's congress work.

The world's congresses will be of twofold order. There will be a series of general congresses for the presentation in appropriate popular discourses suitable for a worldwide publication of the progress made in all the various departments of civilized life. The object of this presentation will be to promote the intelligence, culture and elevation of the people of all countries.

But a different class of congresses is also required. In addition to such general congresses for the consideration of scientific, technical or special subjects not suitable for such popular presentation. Such special congresses will be more directly in the charge of the organizations interested and represented by their respective committees of co-operation, which, acting in harmony with the auxiliary committees of arrangements, will arrange the programmes and conduct the proceedings. The special congresses of the religious denominations and the strictly scientific associations will be of peculiar interest.

Both the general congresses, planned for the people, and the special congresses. Colored People's Jubilee at Chicago. peculiar interest.

Both the general congresses, planned for the people, and the special congresses, planned for the devancement of great special interests, may thus be made lighly successful. As the material exposition at Jackson park is designed chiefly for the pleasure and benefit of the people of all countries and subordinately for the enter-tainment; and advantage of the specialists.

Colored Reople's Jubilee at Chicago.

Aug. 35 is set apart as the festival of the colored people, or, as they themselves seem to prefer to call it, Afro-American Jubilee day. The celebration is to be given in Music ball on the fair grounds. Its object is to show the progress which the colored race has made in speech and song in America, and to this end the brightest representatives of the colored people in oratory and music will be brought together. The orators of the day will endeaver to show the exact standing of the negro in this country, his advancement in some directions, and his Jack of progress in others, and his disabilities as a citizen. There are to be 2,500 colored children in the choruses, and all the prominent colored, singers of the country have been invited.

The Lake Michigan boats will carry passengers to the exposition pier for 25 cents the round trip. Their landing in Chicago is 10 minutes' walk from city bull, just adjoining the Illinois Central depot.

The Octtage Grove avenue cable cars run to the southern entrance to the park. Fare, 5 cents. They leave the heart of the city via Wabash avenue and turn on a loop through Lake and State streets.
Chicago is divided into three geographical divisions known in local parisnee as the "West Side," "North Side," and "South Side." The South Side, with its Michigan, Calumet and Prairie avenues given up to the homes of the millionaire element, harhors Chicago's aristocracy of wealth. The exposition is in the South Side district; so are the Auditorium, the conthouse, postofice, the principal clubs and the Art institute. The great thoroughfares of the South Side in the central section of the city are Wabash and Michigan avenues.

The West Side comprises many fine parks and avenues, and originally contained one-half of Chicago's population. Madison atreet is the central thoroughfare of the West Side. The hotel accommodations of Chicago and those suburbs easy of access include about 2,000 houses of all grades. Nearly 360 of these have been built specially for World's fair patrons and are in the vicinity of the grounds. They have cost nearly $4,000,000 for construction, and with few exceptions are of brick, stone and from. Heretofore the regular prices in the Chicago hotels have ranged from $9 down to $2 a day. Thousand's of private houses in all parts of the city are advertising lodgings and meals for exposition patronage. People who wish to economize will doubtless prefer to save time and money by lodging in the district around Fair park. The accommodations there now foot up 5,000 rooms. The rates will fluctuate with the deniand, but the competition will be great. The hotels in the district include the Hotel Endeavor, with 620 rooms for Christian En-short all around it may be a favorable time to enforce the lesson that stock of all kinds will do better on an allowance of hay always a little short of what they will eat than if fed by the stuffing process. With a ration a little short of what the appetite ealls for, the digestive organs are not overloaded with their work, bit instend are kept in a healthy, active couldition ready to do their work in the most titorough manner. When feeding time comes around the stomach is empty and ready to receive its new supply of tood. In this case the animal feels best, digests more of the food caten, and thrives best upon it. If a heast of burden it can do more work in a given time.

We have recently had our attention for citily called to this matter by a case in which a family horse, only moderately at work grew dull in driving and lost ielast, though apparently healthy and all light otherwise. After continuing for some weeks an investigation showed that a new libred uian whose duty it was to feed the horse was stuffing it with all the hay be could get it to eat. On changing this feeding to one of short rations a few hays made a radical change in the span to better fill the harness and show thrit in overy way. The only change was to less hay.

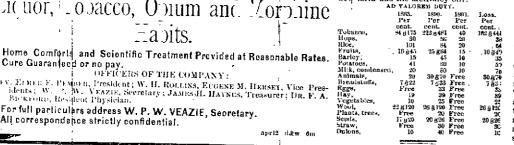

Cows will give larger returns for fodder consumed when on short rations. The most noted feeders, those who accomplish most in a given time, always gauge their mitions a little short of what the animal will take. Their feeding mangers are always licked out clean and the animal always come to its meal with a sharpened appetite.

And of this holds especially true where grain is fed freely. With horses, cows alwaya come to its meat with a sharpened appetite.

All of this holds especially true where grain is fed freely. With horses, cows and oxen, fed with but a moderate grain rution, it is surprising to what an extent the hay fodder can be cut down, if reduced gradually, and still the antinal appear satisfied and thrive upon it. It is the food digested that effects the regult. The most perfect digestion, then, is what a called for, and this can only be secured when the food supplied stops a little short of the stuffing practice.

The New England Homestead says: Lower customs duties have been proposed by a committee of the Reform Club of New York. The committee seems to have made a special point of attack upon all farm products, cutting the present tariff right and left. If these recommendations become law the effect will be to admit free of duty almost all foreign farm products, such as live stock, wheat, corn, outs, ryc, eggs, hay, vegetables, wool, plants and trees, seeds, straw, onions, etc. Enormous eyfs are proposed in the duties in tobucce, hops, rice, fruits, barley and potations, as can be seen from the figures given below. In tobucce the change myans a reduction in duty from $2 to $2.50 down to 25 or 36c per lb., on potatoes I to 2c per bu., while on burley the rate is cut from 56c down to 10c per bu. The proposed bill makes all duties and valorem instead of specific. This means, for instance, that instead of imposing a certain duty of a specific This means, for instance, that instead of imposing a certain duty of a specific This means, for instance, that instead of imposing a certain duty of a specific mount, like 25c per bu. on potatoes, the new plate provides that the duty shall be 10 per cert. of the cost of the polatoes in the country where grown or purchased. Without Instruments Ancient Astrono-pers Kept Track of the Heavens. We find in the table at the Ramesseum distinct references to the bull, the lion and the scorpion, and it is also clearly indicated that at that time the Sirius rose heliacally at the beginning of the rise of the Nile

This word heliacally requires a little explanation. The ancients, who had no telescopes and had to use their horizon as the only scientific instrument which they possessed, were very careful in determining the various conditions in which a star could rise. Feeting the conditions in which a star could rise. For instance, i a star were rising at the same time that the sun was rising, it was said to rise cosmically, but unless certain very obvi-ous precautions were taken the rising star would not be seen in consequence of the presence of daylight. It is quite clear that if we observe a at is quite clear that it we observe a star rising in the dawn it will get more and more difficult to observe the nearer the time of sunrise is approached. There-fore what the ancients did was to deter-mine a time before sunrise in the early dawn at which the star could be very obviously and clearly seen to the country. obviously and clearly seen to rise. The term "heliacally rising" was coined to represent a star rising visibly in the dawn—therefore before the sun. Generally throughout Egypt the sun was sup-posed to be something like 10 degs, be-low the horizon when a star was stated to rise heliacally

We find then that more than 5,000 years ago the Egyptians were perfectly familiar with these facts, and the difference between a cosmical and beliacal rising was perfectly clear to them. But the table at Thebes tells as morcover, that the sun's journey in relation to some of the zodincal constellations was per-fectly familiar 5,000 years ago.

These then are some of the more general statements which may be made with regard to the most important points so far discussed by those who have dealt with Egyptian astronomy and it may be added that all this information has come to us in mythologic guise.

At one time the officers under Lord Howe refused to drink his health at their mess, for, though a splendid admiral, he was not popular in the navy on account of a certain shyness and want of tact with those about him. The chuplain, who was a protege of his lord-ship, was mortified at this and determined that they should drink to Lord Howe. When called mon for a tout mined that they should drink to Lord Howe. When called upon for a toast one day he said, "Well, gentlemen, I can think of nothing better at this mo-ment than to ask you to drink the first two words of the third psalm, for a scriptural toast for once may be taken from one of my cloth." The toast was accordingly drunk. accordingly drunk.

WILLS OF RICH MEN. HOW SEVERAL WEALTHY MEN DIS-

POSED OF THEIR ESTATES. Aster and the Vanderbilt Riches Went to the Oldest Son-The Late A. T. Stewart Gave His Property to His Wife-His Other Requests.

The small bequests by Jay Gould to

The small bequests by Jay Gould to his brother and sister call attention anew to the fact that the financial results of the creation of a fortune in a family are apt to be small to the collateral branches and heavy to the direct line of issue.

The wills of the heads of the Astor—family do not point a moral in this respect, because the family has followed a rule designed for the perpetuation of a great family estate in two parcels. Side bequests, if considerable, would have prevented the execution of this plan. pequess, if consucrable, would have prevented the execution of this plan. The distribution of the late Samuel J. Tilden's fortune is not illustrative of the common custom, because he was a bach-common custom, because ne was a bachelor.

A. T. Stewart, the great merchant prince, made a simple will. In the second parágraph of the decomment opened after his death in 1876 he wrote simply,
"All my property and estate of every kind and description and wherever situnted I give, devise and bequeath to my dear wifo, Cornelia M. Stewart, her heirs and assigns forever." In the next paragraph be appointed Henry Hilton to manage, close and wind up his partnership business and affairs. He made exJudge Hilton, the widow and William Libbey his executors, and he bequeathed to Mr. Hilton the sum of $1.000,000 "as

In a codicil to the will he bequeathed

In a codicil to the will he bequeathed various suns, of from $20,000 to $500 to see many faithful employees in his business, and other sums of $2,500 to $500 to seven household servants. To two sisters named Marron, at whose father's house and hands he had enjoyed hospitality, he gave$12,000 a year and a bouse in this city. To Henry Hilton's wife he gave $5,000. In a second codicil he gave $10,000 each to four persons of the name $10,000 each to four persons of the name of Cliuch, who were relatives of his wife, to two of whom he gave a house in town. and to Sarah Smith and her daughter ho gave $10,000 each. He willed that all persons who had remained in his employ during twenty years should have $1,000, and all who had worked for him ten years $500. A letter to his wife accom-panied the will, and in that he said that panied the will, and in that he said that he hoped to live to carry out his charita-ble schemes, but if he died before doing so he would depend on her to do so with the advice and assistance of their friend. Henry Hilton.

Mr. Stewart had no children. If he had no relatives either, his will is not a case in point. But, on the other hand, it it is true, as many claimants assert, that he had a number of cousins and other kin in Ireland, his absolute forgetfulness of them or refusal to benefit them is re-markably apposite.

When he came to consider his children the situation was altered. To William H., his eldest son, he handed down the bulk of his magnificent property, the value of this gift being estimated at $90,000.00. The whole property had been considered as worth $105,000,000, and of the $15,000.000 that William H. did not get one-half went to William's sons, the oldest one, Cornelius, getting greatly the largest share. He seemed thus to indicate a belief that young Cornelius, who had already shown ability as a financier. cate a benefit mat young corneuts, who had already shown ability as a financier, would become the head of the house in the third generation.

To his own less worthy son Cornelius he cave a need of the interest on $200,000.

to his own less worthy son Cornelius he gave merely the interest on $200,000. He divided $1,250,000 equally among five daughters, and two of these he further enriched, the one with the interest on $400,000 and the other with the interest on $300,000. Enriched is scarcely the term to use, for it was evident that he intended only to insure to each of them the comforts of a conventency.

when it came time to each of them the comforts of a competency.

When it came time to open the will of William H. Vanderbilt it was found that he had given to a nephew, W. V. The great bulk of the increased estate went great bulk of the increased estate went to the children. There were eight of them, and each got $5,005,000 outright, together with the interest during life on another $5,000,000, the eighth part of a trust fund of $40,000,000. The principal in this legacy was to go to his grandchildren when his children died. To his eldest son, Cornelius, he gave an additional $2,000,000 outright, and teaching the control of dditional $2,000,000 outright, and to his favorite grandson, William II., the son of Cornelius, he gave $1,000,000 outright. of Cornelius, he gave $1,000,000 outright. To his own widow he left a yearly allowance of $200,000 and the right to give away $500,000 howsoever or to whomsoever she pleased. To each of his four daughters he gave the house in which she was livpleased. To each of his four daughters he gave the house in which she was living when he died. Having thus disposed of only about half of this great property, which was said to be sufficient to give four dollars to every man, woman and child in the country, Mr. Vanderbilt gave the rest to his first and second sons, Cornelius and William K., or about $50,000,000 each.—New York Sun.

About year ago I concluded to change pty residence and pirt an advertisement in a morning paper of Cloveland for a furnished room. Among the replies was a letter from the missing murderer, written to an old friend in Cleveland. The Cleveland man had a room be desired to Cleveland man had a room he desired to rent and unswered my advertisement, but by mistake inclosed the letter he had received from the rugitive instead of the received from the rugthye unstead or the one intended for me. I learned from the letter that the man I wanted was night watchman in a railway roundhouse in New Mexico, and a week later I had him in irons en route to Cleveland, where he was tried and sent up for life. Death Valley.

The geological formation of Death valley, Inyo county, Call is paralleled by but one other spot on the globe—the Dead sea region of the Holy Land. The valley is about eight miles broad and thirty-five in length, and is said by geologists to be a striking illustration of the condition of the whole world in its early epochs. It lies for below the level of the Pacific, in some places as much as 160 epochs. It has any below the level of the Pacific, in some places as much as 160 feet, and has the appearance of being under the ban of some terrible curse, Thunderstorms pound around its borders, but no cloud ever intercepts the rays of the scorching sun that continually beat down upon Death walley sands until they are hotter than those of "burning Sahurn". Ear, used in and week real ing Sahara." For week in and week out the thermometer stands above 100 degs. night and day, often touching the 125 mark in the afternoom. Moisture o' all kinds is unknown. A Bit of Astique Ware.
*We are all laughing at home over my latest 'prize.' says a woman who is an ardent collector of antiques. "It is a veritable millennium plate, considerably over 100 years old, which I secured in a over 100 years old, which I secured in a recent scouring of the old places in the Connecticut valley. It is of delft of mulberry hue, with the 'eye of God' staring from the upper rim. Beneath on the bowl is shown the lamb lying down, and the lion on his hind feet with a sort of baby's nightgown on him being led by a small child. The expression of the lion's face is the irresistibly funny part. That king of beasts minces along with the smirk of a dancing master adapted to a lion's scale of month. We have indeed a lion's scale of mouth. We have indeed advanced in ceramic art since that artist's sonception of the millennium."—New York Times.

in the peninsula of Abeheron, formerly belonging to Persia, but now a part of Russia, there is a perpetual or rather what the natives call an eternal sacred fire, which is known to have been burning continually for more than 2,000 years. It rises from an irregular orifice of about tweve feet in depth and 120 feet square. The flames, which are constant, rise to a height of from six to eight feet, unno-companied by smoke or disagreeable smell, waving back und forth with the wind like a field of golden gruin.—Phila-dalhiin Proces

Papa's Boy Has Grown Up. An advortisement appears in a western paper which reads thus: "If George William Brown, who deserted his poor wife and babe twenty-five years ago, will return, the aforesaid babe will kneek the stuffing out of him."—Charleston News and Courier.
